VIM AND "VIGAH" SPARK NEW YEAR

Hartnell Faculty Corps Mushrooms; Additions Bolster Staff With New Ideas

Eight new faces have taken their places in the classrooms this semester—new instructors to meet the demands of the growing numbers of students and to replace veteran staff members on leave.

The additions to the Hartnell family come from a variety of fields—from horticulture to music—and from many areas of the country—from Texas to Alaska.

Mrs. Phyllis Flegel, who is teaching English part-time, comes to Hartnell from the University of Washington. She has instructed classes at Portland State College, Washington State College and University of Arizona.

The English major was graduated "magna cum laude" from Marylhurst College in Oregon and received the M.A. degree from Loyola University of Chicago.

Vincent Forcella will teach horticulture at Hartnell. He holds a B.S. degree in pomology (look it up!) and the M.S. in landscape horticulture from the University of California at Davis. For three years he acted as nurseryman at the Arboretum at the campus.

Mr. Forcella will also conduct a survey on agricultural education needs in the Salinas Valley.

Gary James brings a drawl from Texas where he earned the B.S. and M.A. degrees in biology from San Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville. A native of Galveston, Mr. James taught freshman zoology and biology at his "alma mater" before coming to California. For the past two years, the Lone Star stater has taught health science at El Sausal Junior High School in Salinas.

Mr. James was brought to Hartnell to take over the classes of Dr. Howard Feder who is currently spending a sabbatical leave in the Scandinavian countries.

Linley Jensen will teach English full time. A native of Southern California, Mr. Jensen was graduated from San Jose State College before going on to Stanford University where he won his M.A. degree majoring in English and minoring in speech. He taught English at San Jose State last year, working with Dr. Donald Head, former Hartnell instructor, now assistant chairman of the department of English at S.J.S.

Mr. Jensen has also taught on the junior college level at the College of San Mateo.

Mrs. Anne Keating has joined the Registered Nursing program at Hartnell to teach pediatrics. She served recently at the Ft. Ord Army Hospital after a tour of duty at Carmel Community Hospital.

Mrs. Keating received her B.S. in Nursing at Seattle University and later served on the staffs of Providence hospitals in Seattle and Everett, Wash.

Nathan Koblick fills a gap in the music department left by the retirement a year ago of Lorell McCann. A graduate of San Jose State where he received the B.A. and M.A., Mr. Koblick brings experience in top-flight orchestral playing as well as in teaching. For 12 years he was a member of the San Francisco Symphony under the direction of the late Pierre Monteux. In addition, Mr. Koblick performed with the San Francisco Opera Orchestra under direction of Gaetano Merola. He has also performed under many other famous conductors, including Ernest Ansermet, John Barbirolli, Sir Thomas Beecham, Leonard Bernstein, George Gershwin, Ferde Grofe, Andre Kostelanetz and Bruno Walter.

He has taught at the College of San Mateo, where he directed the symphony orchestra, and at San Jose State College. He has also directed music at high schools in Chico and Los Gatos.

Mr. Koblick, a violinist by profession, will teach classes in music appreciation, harmony and instrumental music.

Wilmar C. Martineson will combine instruction in two fields at Hartnell—physical education.

AUTHOR L. LOMAX SPEAKS ON "NEGRO REVOLT"

This year's Hartnell Presents series will begin September 30, at 8 p.m. in the college library with a discussion of the "Negro Revolt" by Louis Lomax, well-known author, journalist, and commentator.

Mr. Lomax received the $2,000 Anisfield-Wolf Award in 1961 for his book, "The Reluctant African." The Award is given annually by Mrs. Anisfield Wolf and the "Saturday Review" for books dealing "most creditably with social and group relations."

The book was written in 14 days after his return from Africa, became a feature writer for Chicago's "American", joined Mike Wallace's staff in 1959 and was the first Negro newsman to appear on television.

During his career, Lomax has and gives a journalist's account of the situation from Cairo to Johannesburg.

The 42-year old journalist began his brilliant career as a teenager, and was editor for the paper at Paine College in Augusta, Ga. He did graduate work at the American University and Yale, and was an assistant professor of philosophy at Georgia State. He

'Big Jim' Sees Rally Big Year

ASB President Jim Silveria, in his first message to the student body, emphasized the need of ASB candidates to run for offices. He stressed the fact that they must be ready and willing to sacrifice their own time and energy.

"We can get this year off to a good start," he pointed out, "if there is good attendance at football games, rallies and active participation in all classes and clubs." Jim is confident that we will have a good football season, but the team needs the whole student body to support its morale.

Student government is mainly concerned with the social aspects on campus, and according to Jim, "We can, with a good student government, start the year off right and have a really great year."

"To make this a really great year it is up to the student body members as well as the Commission," Jim stated. "And with your cooperation and work we can have it this year. The ASB officers are willing to work and forfeit time and effort for a better and bigger school year, but they need your help and participation."

"In conclusion, with your ASB officers working for you, and you working for them we can achieve and create the desired college atmosphere which Hartnell deserves."

Prof. Yarberry First Speaker

Launching the embryonic faculty lecture series Monday night, Dr. Edgar Yarberry, Hartnell anatomy professor, stressed the importance of atmosphere, food, water and disposal of wastes in discussing space physiology.

In his address, Yarberry illustrated his remarks with graphs of astronaut Gordon Cooper's blood pressure, heart-rate, respiration and clinical examination after his orbit of the earth.

The physiology instructor also touched upon the techniques for maintenance of human life in space and the means of protecting astronauts against the heavy strains of blast-off and re-entry.

Following the talk, members of the audience were allowed to question the speaker. A discussion of blood pressure and the use of helium in space came out of this question and answer period.

Public Invited

First in a series of thirteen staff lectures, Dr. Yarberry's talk was a beginning of an effort to allow the public to become better acquainted with the Hartnell faculty and to stimulate a consuming interest in current and cultural affairs.

Next lecture in the series will bring Dr. Duane Sandgren, Dean of Counselors, to the podium. He will explore the topic "Brainwatchers: Who Tests the Testers?" The talk will begin at 8 p.m. in room 12, Merrill Hall, September 22.

EDITORIAL

Out with indifference! In with SPIRIT! Yes, SPIRIT! Hartnell has hidden in the fog of apathy too long. We have evaded this problem too long. We have excused ourselves by saying that other campuses are having the same problems—why be different?

We have capable commissioners. We elected them. Why not support them? How? By attending the Commission meetings which are held every Tuesday at noon; by voicing your opinion on issues brought before the Commission; by responding to requests for support on committees; by joining and actively participating in club activities; by attending the games; by attending the fine lecture series presented by the college; and most important of all by exercising one of man's most precious rights—the right to vote.

LET'S HAVE SOME ACTION!

This is a very important year for Hartnell. It's a trial year. We're on probation. We have reached the limits of this deep-rooted apathy and we're trying to pull ourselves out. A separate faculty lecture series has been instigated in an effort to introduce and better acquaint the students and the public with the instructors. Planetarium showings will continue as last year in an effort to stimulate more interest in the college and its facilities. More adults are enrolling in classes. A successful college is a college that is eagerly supported by the members of the community.

In the ensuing issues of your campus newspaper, the Panther Sentinel, space will be allotted to students to voice their opinion on current campus issues. Those letters submitted to the editor must be limited to 250 words. They will be kept on file in Rm. 9 for two weeks after which time they will be discarded.

This is your newspaper. You're paying for it. Why not support it! —MDT

A YEAR'S PROPHECY

By Arvid Fraties

My thoughts are black. They're getting blacker. My mind is blank. My wallet's blanker. The student body card was costly. My books are infinitely more so. This I don't mind so much. The line outside station I is long. The lines outside stations IV and the bookstore are longer and longest. This I despise.

This school. My school. Last year, their school. Ownership has passed into my hands with their leaving. I'm glad they've left, but know I'll meet them again when I leave. My school now, until that day.

Cool Head

What will I do, until then? I'll be cool. I'll wear madras shirts and belts, wear blue lees and black converse tennis shoes. All at once. I'll forget my locker combination 50 times a day, for the first two weeks. 25 times a day after that. Eventually I'll probably staple it to my chest, like last year. Last year. Last year I spent running around like an Olympic distance runner. I will this year too but—

Sophomore means "a wise person". Wise guy is closer. I might try and act sophisticated, for a change. Read Motor Trend instead of Hot Rod. Esquire instead of Playboy. World Report instead of Newsweek. Dark socks with suits, instead of white. Little things I think about doing but know I'll never do. I'll talk about parties, about 70 West like it used to be. About the Coconut Grove like it is. About the Outrigger like it will be.

I'll know which teachers can be "conned" and I'll protest my F's when I try to con them. Drink a six-pack on a Saturday night and say it was a case on Monday morning. And eventually believe it myself.

Have parties when my parents leave for a week-end. Rumors will make them orgies by the start of the week. Help to start the rumors. Scads of stuff like that.

I'll support my candidates for A.S.B. offices. Be a campaign manager. Celebrate at Sycamore Flats when we win. Celebrate at Sycamore Flats when we lose.

Real Objective to Study

But above all I'll have to study. To get ahead, to stay even, just to pass. To stay off probation, to graduate with my friends, to be accepted to upper division. To eventually make life worth living as it should be lived. The best times, fun-wise, I'll ever have I'll have at college level. But I'll do the most boring, the most tedious, the hardest plain work here, too, that I'll ever do. And it will be worth it.

When I eventually look back on all this stuff I'll do, I'll think it was really something. But it's all typical. Just part of college life, but mainly just part of Hartnell life.

Enrollment Big; Race For Classes

Out with the old, and in with the new—enrollment that is. A record peak of 1372 students had been achieved by September 10, as compared to last year's 1272 when Hartnell opened the doors for the fall semester.

According to dean of enrollment Karl Bengston, there are indications that enrollment will reach 1500 strong this semester.

This pace of enrollment has rapidly closed numerous classes, particularly in business, chemistry, English, physical education and political science. Many students, because of this fact, are quite dissatisfied with their schedules.

Counselors urge those students who have schedule problems to please be patient and work together with their counselors to achieve the desired schedules and classes.

Mr. Bengston stresses the fact that today is the final day of registration, September 25 is the final date to add a class, and November 1 is the last day possible to drop a class.

TIME CHANGES EVERYTHING—INCLUDING HARTNELL CAMPUS

Don't count on being able to come back to Hartnell in ten years and find your way around. Things are going to change. Considerably.

Bit by bit, wing by wing and bond issue by proposition, the college expands its facilities, its properties and hopefully its opportunities.

Two years ago the community supported a $1,869,000 bond issue. Today a bundle of that money stands transformed into a modernistic two story building which houses the science department. The amoebas have a new home, complete with planetarium and pendulum. It opened spring semester last year.

Other striking changes have come about since then, including the remodeling of old science rooms to accommodate students of art and nursing. Exit test tubes and Bunsen burners. Enter palette knives and sculptor's chisels. Out with guinea pigs, snakes and bugs. In with crutches, white caps and stretchers.

Lot Bigger

Parking problems are at a minimum, at least for the time being, with the expansion of the old lot during the summer months. This change more than compensated for the closing of one side of Homestead Avenue for visibility and safety. The parking area will now handle comfortably between 400 and 500 cars. (We didn't bother to count spaces.)

Next on the improvement agenda is an addition to the cafeteria which will increase the eating area at least 100%. Construction will be under way early next summer.

Along with the capacity change will come a new (for Hartnell) method of dispensing cafeteria meals, known as the "scramble

Assembly Held; Receive Students

Freshmen and returning sophomores were welcomed to the assembly September 11, by Jim Silveria, ASB President. Following Jim, Dr. Ching and Vice President Dufour again welcomed all students attending Hartnell. Dr. Ching mentioned that there was more to college than only the classroom activities, and that he expected a big turnout for games and other social events.

Commissioners Priscilla Gin, Gain Rendleman, Linda Tasotta, Judy Hennigan, Jim Barns, David Rose, and head yell-leader Cricket McCormick were introduced as other persons holding responsible positions in the student government.

Dean of Students, Miss June Handley, was introduced and spoke of some of Hartnell's policies pertaining to the students. Among them the use of the student parking lot, lounge, and the Student Union. Also mentioned was the upcoming game with Allan Hancock and the after-game dance sponsored by the Young Democrats and Esquires.

Notice was made to the students that elections will be held September 28 and 29. The offices of student body vice president, commissioner of rallies and assemblies, commissioner of cultural activities, sophomore class president, freshman class representative, freshman class president, A.W.S. president, A.M.S. president are up for grabs.

system", in which students select their chow from a buffet-like set-up and proceed to a cashier.

Originally, the 1962 bond provided money to remodel present administrative, counseling, and records offices. However, since this would necessitate moving everyone and everything out of the main building during the remodeling and since there is no place to put these people, the administration chose instead to construct an entirely new building north of the science wing. This will be a two story structure and will include, in addition to administrative and counseling offices, twelve classrooms for general use.

Panther to Move

Moving the main offices to front on Central Avenue will bring about a new orientation of other parts of the campus to face the north. The stone panther and flagpole will also be moved and relocated in the same area. This operation is expected to be under way by July 1966.

Even further into the future, very sketchy plans to build a home for the music and drama departments are being considered. To do this the district must raise more money either by bonds or a tax.

Although Proposition 1A two years ago included $180,000 for Hartnell, the district must match this sum at a 2.8 to 1 ratio. The $300,000 to $500,000 we may expect to obtain through Proposition 2 must be matched 1 to 1.

Business Major Wins Ed. Award

Sophomore business administration major Max Tappin was recently awarded a $2000-scholarship for the year, with the understanding that the grant may be renewed annually until he completes his schooling.

The scholarship was awarded Max, a native of Aruba in the Netherlands Antilles, by the Lago Oil and Transportation Co., Ltd. Max worked with the firm, an affiliate of Standard Oil of New Jersey, for six years before coming to school in the United States. The grant was made on the basis of Max's service with the company and his studies at Hartnell.

Max received his early education in the Dutch language, even though the native dialect of the island is Papiamentu—a mixture of Portuguese and Spanish. In high school he studied English for two years and had a chance to use it while working with American employees of the company.

He came to Hartnell a year ago on the advice of an American friend, a graduate of Stanford University, who described the benefits of California climate and the junior college system.

"Most of my friends went to college in Holland," Max said, "but I wanted to visit America and study in the English language."

His plans will take him to a state college or university next year where he will continue his business education. "Then I shall return to Aruba to work for the

Film Series Set; 'Desert' Pix First

"More appealing movies will be shown this year," stated ASB President, Jim Silveria, when questioned about the Cultural Film Series to be shown on campus.

In pointing out the significance of the films to be shown, Silveria went on to add: "A greater effort has been made to present a better variety of films this year."

First film in the series will be Walt Disney's "Living Desert," followed by the controversial "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof". Other movies in the series to be shown include: "Julius Caesar", "Lust for Life", "Viva Zapata", Alfred Hitchcock's "North by Northwest", "Stalag 17", and "Roman Holiday".

This year it is hoped that more interest will be taken in the film series, according to Jim. They were poorly attended last year due to either indifference or lack of publicity.

All films will be screened on Thursdays, starting September 24. They are to be shown at 2 o'clock in the Little Theater, and again that evening at 8 o'clock in the Student Lounge.

cation and political science. He comes to Salinas from Modesto where he instructed P.E. at the high school. He has also taught on the high school and junior college level at Anchorage, Alaska.

The new basketball coach received the B.A. degree in P.E. and social science, as well as the M.A. in education administration from the University of Montana. While there he piled up an impressive record in sports, lettering in football, basketball and track. He also was a member of the All-American Track Team and won the title of Sprint Champion of the Texas Relays and Armed Services.

His overall coaching record in basketball stands at 254 wins and 47 losses.

Mrs. Anastasia Van Bebber will teach Fundamentals of Nursing and surgical-clinical studies in the Hartnell R.N. program. She was graduated from St. Louis University with a B.S.N.E. and a minor in philosophy. She has taught for eight years at the College of St. Catharine in St. Paul, and six years at O'Connor Hospital in San Jose.

covered many of the United States' racial uprisings and he is convinced that the methods the Africans are using against the whites are the same as those the white segregationists are using here.

Others to Follow

Lomax's lecture will be followed by many other free and public Hartnell Presents lectures. Others in the 1964-65 line-up include: Erich Fromm's "Psychology of Nationalism" on October 15; Kingsley Davis' "A Curious Marriage: Population Growth and Economic Backwardness" on December 8; Charles P. Taft's "Moral Foundations of Government" on January 12; and Benjamin Fine's "Wanted: Educational Statesmanship" on March 3.

★ ★ ★ ★ FEZ-TOPPED DEAN HANDLEY RECALLS SOVIET SOJOURN

Our Dean of Students, Miss June Handley, had read enough about the people of Russia to be intrigued and puzzled. Through the Committee for International Friendly Visits, she took the direct approach. Miss Handley, one of 8 representatives on the committee, spent 22 days in the Soviet Union this summer.

She visited Moscow where she attended a performance of the ballet "Swan Lake" in the Palace of Congresses in Red Square.

The group's hostesses were the Soviet Women's Committee. "We had no particular problem with the language", stated Miss Handley, "because we always had interpreters and a surprising number of people these speak English". She went on to add, "English is taught as a foreign language and most of the students take English".

Perhaps it wasn't so cold at Yalta, where she had "wonderful swimming" in the Black Sea. While there, they toured the Litvian Palace where Roosevelt and Churchill stayed for the Yalta Conference.

"The Russians looked very much like American people. The men wore their shirt tails out", said Miss Handley, "and they were extremely friendly". She pointed out that predominance of women in professional fields can be attributed to the shortage of middle-aged men.

Commenting on the hospitality of the Russians, Miss Handley said that bouquets of flowers were presented to them wherever they went, including the pioneer camps where the children followed the examples of their elders. "I would liked to have stayed a few more weeks", she said, "but I was mighty glad to get home to our form of government".

The Soviet Women's Committee has approximately three hundred thousand members. They have sent 20 different women to the United States and will send another delegation this coming spring. In exchange, 28 American women have visited the Soviet Union so far.

The basic advantage of the exchange is that it is helping to inform the people of the customs, cultures, education, and government of both countries.

Annual Dropped; "Seed" Proposed

Last Spring the Board of Trustees voted to discontinue the publication of Hartnell's yearbook, La Reata.

The Board thoroughly reviewed the many problems created by the publication, such as the questionable student interest, staff problems, the tremendous cost, $4,200 a year, and decided to drop the La Reata this year.

Mr. Johnson, staff advisor for the yearbook, feels that "the value of a yearbook is debatable in a junior college, since the student population is so transient". Although we start out with a large freshman class, it constantly changes and dwindles.

Lack of student interest was also demonstrated last semester when a student poll was conducted. When faced with either a yearbook or a three dollar reduction in student body fees, a vast majority of students chose the money. Although we will not have a yearbook this year, the student body fees will still be $15. Reason? The decision was not made until late in the year and the Commission did not have an opportunity to submit the proposed reduction to the Board for approval.

Miss Handley, Dean of Students, has also suggested that the funds be used for a student literary publication, similar to the "Seed", which was published in 1960 and 1961.

Culturalists Seek New Recruits

DRAMA CASTING

Calling all actors and actresses! Hal Ulrici, Hartnell College-Community Playhouse director, urges all those dramatists interested to try out for parts in the upcoming production of "The Matchmaker". The play, based on Thornton Wilder's Broadway success of several years ago, is the basis for the current hit musical, "Hello Dolly" starring Carol Channing.

Tryouts for the nine male and seven female parts will be September 21 in the Little Theatre. Sign-ups are also being taken for production crew members.

"The Matchmaker" will be staged in the Little Theatre October 30, 31, November 6 and 7.

MADRIGAL AND CHOIR TRYOUTS

Do you enjoy singing? Are you a diligent worker? Then Mr. Vahe Aslanian, Hartnell choir director is looking for you! There are openings in the choir and the Madrigal singers. Both groups are very active, giving special programs primarily during the Christmas season.

No previous experience is necessary, although entrance into the select Madrigal troupe is through tryout only.

Those interested in joining either group are urged to see Mr. Aslanian in his office in room 22.

MUSICIANS NEEDED

Attention all string and woodwind instrumentalists! Those of you in the intermediate or advanced class are invited to join together for a new orchestra under Mr. Nathan Koblick, in Room 24. Those interested in chamber music are especially welcome.

According to our new music instructor, there will be several concerts throughout the year. However, the main objective this semester is the Messiah to be conducted at Christmas time.

WAA Activities Underway '64-65

A special invitation is extended to all women who are interested in joining WAA this year.

A series of sportsdays will be held with other junior colleges, among them Diablo Valley College on October 3, Monterey Peninsula College on October 24, City College of San Francisco November 7, San Jose City College on November 21, and at the College of San Mateo on December 5. Activities included in these sportsdays are coed softball, volleyball, archery, bowling, tennis, swimming, badminton, fencing, and folk dancing.

This year there will also be a competitive women's basketball team playing Cabrillo College, Monterey Peninsula College, and the Fort Ord Wacs.

Besides basketball, two tennis champions will be sent to Modesto after competitive tryouts here.

Then late in May, a playday will be held to which all the surrounding high schools will be invited. Among them will be Salinas High School, North Salinas High School, King City, Gonzales, and Palma. This will be an annual event in years to come.

VENTURA FIRST IN CROSS COUNTRY

"There are some athletes here that would do a fine job, but can't be reached", stated track coach Ed Adams as the Hartnell Panthers cross-country spikesters prepare for their opening meet. Several local high school tracksters now attending Hartnell cannot be reached by Coach Adams. Practice has already begun and, with the addition of several mercury-footed speedsters, this year's cross-country harriers could very well repeat as Coast Conference champions.

Coach Adams finds among his list of returning veterans Leonard Davies, Ed Powers, Tom Bailey and Mark Botelho. Others joining the squad this year are Spencer Bailey, Bob Wasmundt, Ryan Abe, Dave Andreatte and Randall Black. But, more are needed to build a strong cross-country team. Freshmen from Salinas, North Salinas, Palma, Gonzales or King City who are interested in running cross-country should contact Coach Adams as soon as possible.

First meet for the Panther thincladders will be September 26 against Ventura College at the Hart's oval.

45 Newcomers and Veterans Will Carry Our Colors This Season

Local prognosticators begin their pad and pencil sessions as the 1964 football season makes its initial entry tomorrow night. Hartnell's Panthers, defending Coast Conference champions, host the always tough Allan Hancock College Bulldogs in both teams' lidlifter at the Salinas High School stadium.

Coach Arvin Smith and his assistants find among their 45 candidates, twelve returning veterans, Tim Bassetti (210 pounds), Louie Modena (180), Bill Brinan (205), Bernard Dalipe (220), Dennis Miller (230), John Montes (215), and Tony Leonardini (210), head a fair sized line backed up by several newcomers: Armando Hernandez (185), John Whittaker (204), Bob Paoli (190), Dave Nichols (225) and Dave Cabrera (225).

Behind the line, Dan Lucas, who saw limited action last year due to an early season injury, gets the number one signal-caller's spot. The departure of All-Conference performers, Jim Mankins, Al Smith and Mike Lewis leaves a gap in the backfield. Coach Smith has come up with several top prospects in Roger Story, Tony Ploszay, Dan Moore, Ron Cotta, Ted Contreras and Rick O'Neil manning a respectable up the middle-power attack. Aiding Lucas in the quarterback position are Rick Nolan, Dan Mack and Dave Hein. Tomorrow night's probable starting line-up finds Dan Moore at one end spot: Coach Smith is undecided as yet who will fill the other end spot. Tackles will be Tim Bassetti and big Dave Nichols, guards Lee Twisselman and John Montes and Bob Paoli at center. Danny Lucas will be calling the signals from his quarterback position while Ron Cotta and Roger Story will be running at full steam from their halfback spots. Tony Ploszay gets a crack at fullback.

Little is known about the Bulldogs, but, according to Smith, "they have always been tough in the past". The Panthers will be out to avenge their 18-7 loss at the hands of the Bulldogs last season. Smith feels that this year's defensive unit, with the majority of the twelve veterans going both ways, will be stronger.

A new opponent in the Panthers nine-game schedule is the October 3rd game with West Valley Junior College of Campbell. Like Allan Hancock, little is known about this new addition to the Coast Conference. However, Coach Smith did state that with a large student enrollment drawing from the majority of the San Jose area, they will be tough. West Valley will not, however, compete in Coast Conference football action this year, but will compete in other conference sports during the course of this season.

As for pre-Conference favorites, Smith signals out Monterey Peninsula College's Lobos, Cabrillo's Seahawks and Vallejo's Falcons are the teams to beat by returning veteran experience. But, "we'll be right in there" says Smith.

Hartnell's homecoming game is scheduled for October 31 against Gavilan.

Game time tomorrow night is set for 8 o'clock sharp.

THE CURRENT PLAYERS TAKE THE STAGE

Two teams line up, head to head. The quarterback calls signals. Arms and legs on 22 bodies tense. A center slaps the ball into the hands of the QB who retreats 10 feet and looks for an open receiver while he watches the opposing linemen crashing through to smear him. Opening night curtain has gone up, fast. The pigskin season has blasted off, although it may never leave the ground. Hartnell's squad went through the rehearsals this week—running through the favorite lines and plays of its first opponent, Allan Hancock. Opening performance gets under way at Salinas High School stadium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The smack of hands on the ball and thud of colliding bodies tells observers the spirit is there. Tomorrow night will show how well our Panthers have learned their lines.
